CAREER PATH

Full Stack Engineer
Scorecast / iDalgo – Paris, France   SINCE JUNE 2019

Managed the complete development lifecycle of two strategically significant products:
- Scorecast, a mobile and web-based sports forecast competition boasting over 1 million players in 2022 ;
- Liveblog, a real-time information provider web interface predominantly utilized by reputable sports media.

As a full-stack engineer within a dynamic and human-scale company, my primary goal was to ensure the stability and attractiveness of the products. This included devising and implementing technical solutions, spanning web and mobile development, and incorporating robust DevOps practices.
